FORE WORD

COATES BROS. and CO., Ltd., in placing before their customers the present book, wish to point out that while they believe it will be found to some extent comprehensive, it does not represent every type of colour or material manufactured by them; a complete Price List, however, is incorporated in the work, and samples of inks not illustrated will be forwarded on application. ¶ It is hoped the work will be of general interest to Printers, as showing the great range of application and the varied grades of inks produced and supplied. ¶ The perfectly equipped laboratory at Abbey Mills, devoted for many years to the scientific study of the various pigments, the installation of the most modern and improved plant, together with the highly trained staff, have secured the production of inks, resulting in the maximum of economical use, clean working and attractive appearance. ¶ It is therefore with confidence that COATES BROS. and CO., Ltd., place the services of their qualified consultants at the disposal of Printers, who may at any time experience some technical difficulty and feel sure their advice in such instances will prove of considerable benefit in solving the problem.

Rexine

THE IDEAL FURNITURE COVERING

The point to remember about REXINE is not merely that it is a leather substitute; it is more, it is an improvement upon leather.

Rexine can be had in the same grains and colourings as leather, is indeed indistinguishable from leather, but it wears better. Moreover it is sanitary and "washable," and proof against stains or grease marks.

And Rexine only costs one-quarter the price of leather.

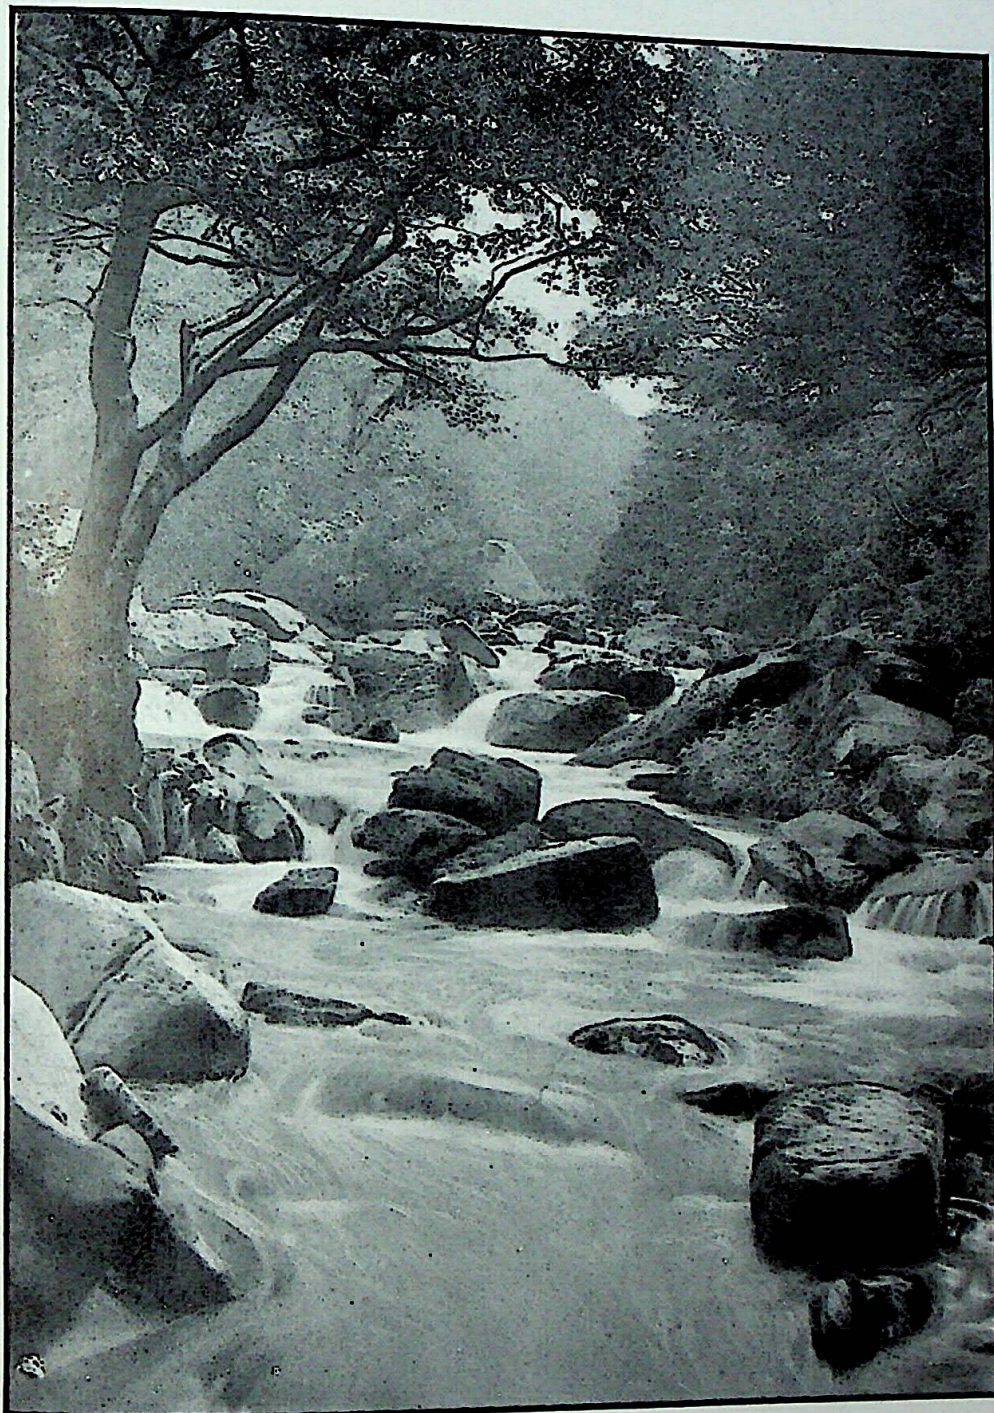

Any Furnishing House will supply you with patterns.

Dear Sirs,

On completion of your new Book, the designing and producing of which work you were good enough to entrust to us, we feel that we may be permitted to add our tribute to the high character and general value of the inks, their clean working and economical use. These inks have been used exactly as sent to us by yourselves without the addition of any agent. We have, of course, had many years experience of your inks and the varied classes used in the Book fully maintain the high opinion we have always entertained of your products.
